Dear Julius,

How are you my dear brother? How is life in Rome? It's been ages since I last heard from you! I hope you and the family are well. Anyway, I have some very sad and serious news. Last Monday, there was a huge eruption from Mount Vesuvius, which is located just to the north of our once beautiful city of Pompeii.

I was sitting down to dinner with my friends when the floor began to shake violently. A sudden jolt sent me and my dinner spiralling to the ground, which caused me to bang my head; the whole room seemed to spin around! After that, I ran out onto the street where people were running around crazily, trying to save their lives and gather their possessions. By the time I had realised what was happening, huge cracks opened up the road towards the hillside and
